

Abstract of the Disclosure:

A selection device for a semiconductor memory device for preventing voltage drops caused by read currents in a column multiplexer of a semiconductor memory device includes switch
5 devices having two switch elements. Associated bit lines can be interlinked with a potential sampling connection or a current feed connection of a respective associated sense amplifier by the first and the second switch element.

GLM/nt